

Exploring and celebrating our Literary Treasures

The NGC Bocas Lit Fest 2015

"The Bocas Lit Fest is five this year - a small landmark, but it shows a period of sustained work, supported by the people of Trinidad and Tobago. We are delighted to have NGC behind us in this project to grow the Literary Arts. NGC has been with us from the very beginning and the Festival would not exist without them."

While our monetisation of Trinidad and Tobago's natural gas resource fuels national prosperity, at The National Gas Company of Trinidad and Tobago Limited (NGC), we recognise that education and cultural expression equally contribute to the wealth of a nation. That is why at NGC, we continue to support pioneering events like the NGC Bocas Lit Fest, which has become one of our flagship investments.

NGC is honoured to be associated with this trailblazing Festival. The NGC Bocas Lit Fest showcases the brilliance of our region's literary vanguard and liberates the voices and creative energies of our budding writers and poets.

Over the years, the Festival has been hugely successful as a forum for promoting and recognising excellence in local and Caribbean literature, through engaging workshops, live performances, readings and awards. As such, it continues to inspire artistes and audiences to explore new avenues of artistic development, while growing in prestige as a premier annual event exposing our talents to an ever-widening global audience.

As title sponsors, it gives us great joy to see the Festival continue to grow in audience and profile, and we commend the Festival organisers for their diligence and resounding success. It is our greatest privilege to continue investing in the development and celebration of our literary heritage in a way that will give our people yet another avenue to fulfill their highest potential.
